

Directions to the Center for Protein Diagnostics (PRODI)

Orientation on site: The main entrance to the Center for Protein Diagnostics (PRODI) is located directly above the stairs to the campus terrace, which you can reach between the two traffic circles via the stairs or by elevator.

You can open the outer entrance door by pressing the push button located on the right side in front of the main entrance. In the vestibule, please use the intercom system to contact the secretaries of the respective competence areas. They will open the inside door for you and can help you find your way around the building.
